

Come To Bed

Reality

Come to Bed

Pulling the Covers Back on Relationships

Synopsis

We spend a whopping one third of our lives in the most personal and revealing place: the bedroom.

It is the place where we start and end our day – where we laugh, cry, connect, lower our defences and truly become ourselves.

Come To Bed is an exciting, attention-grabbing, mostly fixed-rig format which follows five unique couples/families at bedtime, before the lights go out.

We see nothing else of their lives but through witnessing the moments in the bedroom can see the highs and lows of each couple, from heartfelt conversations to intense fights to moments of joy or maybe even something saucier.

And after all, aren't we all voyeurs?

Key Selling Points

- Winner of the Small World, Big Ideas format competition, 2016.
- Now in development for the US by Mission Control (NBC's Hollywood Game Night).
- Fascinating insight into people's lives in a unique setting.
- A unique televisual experience, like nothing you've ever seen before.
- Couples can be from different ages, relationship statuses, locations, lifestyles and backgrounds.
- Episodes intercut from couple to couple as viewers follow their different journeys through life.